The use of internal cloud processing services is an approach that, in addition to boosting the country's economy, is also useful for users. Undoubtedly, the shorter the distance between the user and the server, the lower the service delay, which means a higher service quality, and considering the difference in internal and external traffic pricing, the use of internal services is ultimately less expensive. With more than 10 years of specialized work in the field of providing cloud software and localization of related processes, Pyramid Company is the pioneer of this industry with the growing number of online users in the country. Improving the customer experience has always been the top priority of this company since its establishment.
