Vira Sanat Pars Sanat

We started our activity in 1399 as an experienced but young team in the field of electrical installations. Work experience Our team members in the past, led to the identification of damage to the design and implementation gap in the country and we were eager to use these experiences in to reduce this gap and thus reduce costs for employers. So we focused on design and implementation projects . At the same time, and considering this motivation and approach in the field of site engineering (including technical support of various implementation units, supply and distribution, project control and quality control), we also provided services in some prominent projects in the country
