

Pakzi company was established in 1354 with the aim of providing services in the field of industrial ventilation to industries. It was active in the field of providing all kinds of industrial air filters. Production of sensitive parts and materials. Also to prevent dust from the production process. Manufacturing of various types of dust collection devices, type with mechanical cleaning system and reverse compressor air (Reverse Pulse jet), manufacturing of welding fume capture devices with moving hood. Pakzai's years of experience in the field of design, construction and implementation of related projects has created an acceptable reserve for similar cases that can be used to serve customers.

Since its establishment, the company has set up a factory to produce all kinds of industrial...

No products found